

Teligent Testimonial:

Teligent develops, manufactures and markets pharmaceutical products for use by doctors and patients in the United States and Canada. Their mission is to become a leading member of the global specialty generic pharmaceutical industry by 2020.

Based in Buena, New Jersey, Teligent has approximately 160 employees working at their 33,000 square-foot manufacturing and research and development (R&D) complex. Teligent currently produces topical pharmaceutical products such as liquids, creams, ointments, and gels. The company is significantly expanding its New Jersey production site through a capital investment of more than $50 million. The upgrades include leading-edge production equipment, automated controls, expanded capacity for topical products and the capability to manufacture sterile injectable medicines.

At Teligent, there is nothing more energizing and powerful than being part of an environment that genuinely pursues diversity and inclusion. The spirit of the culture at Teligent is to work hard and be nice to people.

“We are proud of what we have achieved at Teligent over the last few years, and are even more excited about our future in Atlantic County. Our $50 million investment in a new R&D and pharmaceutical manufacturing facility is a testament to the opportunities, strength and support that we see in the region. Each day we have more access to highly-trained candidates and benefit from being an active member in the local business community.”
